Each vocalist is responsible to gather their own music and rehearse it before the full group rehearsal, either mid-week or Saturday morning. There are print copies on the music room tables by the Sunday one week before.

Most vocal ensembles will have one to a part: soprano, alto, tenor, bass; however, some services will have more or fewer (minimum: a single cantor leading congregational singing). Possible dates are listed below; please share your availability with Jenee ASAP.

Before Sunday worship at Eleven, vocalists will typically warm-up/run through at 10:00 a.m. in the music room, transition to the chancel mics, lead during the worship hour, then tear down all their equipment and music immediately following the postlude.

WORSHIP TEAM BAND & SINGERS

Each member of the team is responsible to gather their own music and rehearse it before the full group rehearsal, usually mid-week. There are print copies on the music room tables by the Sunday one week before, often with electronic copies and recordings downloadable through www.PlanningCenterOnline.com accounts.

A Crossroads worship team is basically piano/keyboard, guitar(s), and drumset, with around 3–6 vocalists (melody and 2 harmonies). Additional instruments are often welcome. Possible dates are listed below; please share your availability with Jenee ASAP.

Before Sunday worship at Nine, the worship team will warm-up/run through at 8:10 a.m., lead during the worship hour, then tear down all their equipment and music immediately following the postlude. This will help to make a quick transition on the chancel for worship at Eleven.
